Strange But True
by Lucie Winborne

• When Ethiopian emperor Menelik II didn't feel well, he would eat a few pages of the Bible. While this curious habit didn't do him any harm, in 1913, feeling particularly ill after a stroke, he ordered an entire Old Testament book of Kings to be fed to him, a page at a time, but died before he could complete it. ©2023 King Features

Paws Corner

by Sam Mazzotta
DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I bought a puppy a few weeks ago who was between 2 to 3 months old. Star is wonderful, and housetraining has been OK. But yesterday, he pooped in the hallway while we were out. My boyfriend says I need to push his nose into the mess and punish him. I don't think that's the right way to train a puppy. What do you think? - Daria in St. Louis, MO
DEAR DARIA: Your instinct is spot on, and you should trust it more. That's the wrong way to train a puppy. It doesn't teach the puppy anything - except to be afraid. Young puppies are learning machines, picking up habits quickly - both good and bad. They need to be constantly supervised to keep them safe and to correct them on the spot so they learn what they can and can't do in the household. When they're not supervised, I recommend placing them in a properly sized kennel crate. Think of it as a den for your puppy, a safe spot.

Furthermore, puppies need to pee and poo more frequently than adult dogs - about four times daily at Star's age, but sometimes more. It's up to you to make sure their elimination schedule is adequate and that you are there to supervise them. Star couldn't wait for you to get home, so he went in the hallway. That's on you, not on Star.

Clean up the mess (spray with an odor eliminator) and continue your training schedule with Star. And keep following your instincts about the best way to train and correct him. ©2023 King Features Synd., Inc.

Good Things Can Sometimes Be Found
 Concealed in Small Places

When it comes to the Weekly Bargain Bulletin, are you a "creature of habit" or do you just "wing it?" You've probably figured it out by now that while each edition of the WBB is dated for a Friday, it is typically distributed to retailers and other establishments, where it is available for free to the public, on Thursday afternoons. I fall into the "creature of habit" category, since I know the convenience store where I normally pick up my copy usually has their editions in stock by 2 PM on Thursdays. While I do know some folks who "wing it" and randomly pick up a copy whenever they see them on a rack, when they are shopping or running errands. The reason I bring this point up is because this Sat., Dec. 9, 2023 is the last day of our PA 2023 regular firearms deer season, so whether you are reading this on Thu. (Dec. 7) or Fri. Dec. 8, will determine if you still have two or just one day left to fill your remaining buck or doe tag(s).

Now, if I had to give a name to my Fall 2023 deer hunting exploits so far, I would have to label it, "The Year of the 6-Point Buck". Based on current antler restrictions in our portion of Western PA where I do the majority of my hunting, we have to abide by "Three Up" in Wildlife Management Units 1A (our area), 1B, 2A, 2B, and 2D. The rub (pun intended) is I have seen no less than seven 6-points over the past few weeks and while two of them had large racks and lengthy tines (almost like a mule deer), they did not meet our antler restrictions and they received a pass and my mumbled words to "grow bigger next year". Fortunately, I do know where a few very nice bucks are still lurking and they are now my focused quarry.

If this was a tight football game, I can imagine the TV or radio announcers talking about how much time is remaining and how it is an appropriate strategy for the trailing team to run their "hurry-up offense" or their "two-minute drill". I guess what I'm getting at is do you have a "go to" strategy when it's "crunch time" and you're up against the calendar as your firearms deer hunting opportunities are rapidly coming to a close? Allow me to share a few of my tactics and tips I employ at this point of the year, knowing that we're going to have a 2.5-week hiatus in statewide deer hunting until our PA late archery and our PA flintlock seasons open on Tue., Dec 26 (the day after Christmas). Now might be the time to do something unorthodox, since large bucks still out there are masters of "hide-and-seek" and know how to disappear.

If you are a bow hunter, you've probably heard the expression: "aim small, miss small". This is solid, excellent advice to focus on a specific tuft of hair as your aimpoint and not just haphazardly aim at the broadside of the entire deer. Now that we're almost two weeks into our PA firearms deer season, I think you might be surprised how good things (big bucks) can sometimes be concealed in small places (that most hunters often overlook). Depending upon whether I'm hunting in an agricultural area with crop fields and smaller woodlots or the "big woods" with thousands of acres of contiguous forest, here are some of the micro-terrain features I'm keying in on as potential hiding spots: staghorn sumac clusters, blow downs, swamps (cat-tails and hummocks), mountain laurel patches, large boulders, and ledges.

Any other time of the year, I typically stay out of a big buck's "bedroom", but I can assure you that either Thu., Fri., or Sat., depending upon the wind direction, I will be heading to a small 10-yard-wide staghorn sumac cluster in Crawford County to pursue a specific buck. From his vantage point in a couple hundred-acre CRP field (overgrown with chest high weeds), he can observe most hunters approach from almost 1/2-mile away where they are forced to park and simply slip away undetected. I will park out of sight and walk almost a 1.25-mile circuitous route to come in behind him (if the wind is right). I initially encountered him by accident two-years ago in flintlock season and we have been playing "cat-and-mouse" ever since. Additionally, there is a Venango County buck I have been pursuing for three years now and I think I finally found his "bedroom" in a small dense mountain laurel thicket this past Feb. while coyote hunting. It's over a mile from the clearcut and gas line where I've seen him before, but big bucks will travel considerable distances to take advantage of the thickest, most remote, cover available.

Another often overlooked tactic is to employ your bow or crossbow in firearms deer season. Smart deer will often "hole up" very close to inhabited human structures. With a firearm, hunters must abide by the 150-yard Safety Zone rule; however, with archery gear the Safety Zone is reduced to 50-yards. This tactic is frequently employed in densely populated WMU 2B with great success. Remember: Don't give up! Some hunters fill their tags on the last day. It could be you! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors!

Turkey Noodle
Casserole

12 ounces egg noodles
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
3 1/2 cups cold milk
10 oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup diced red bell pepper
1/2 cup diced green bell pepper
1/4 cup chopped green onions
1 teaspoon garam masala
1 teaspoon dried tarragon
1 cup shredded pepperjack cheese
1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
3 cups cubed skinless cooked turkey or chicken
5 oz. crushed potato chips

•Preheat oven to 350°. Bring large pot of lightly salted water to a boil. Cook egg noodles in boiling water, stirring occasionally until almost cooked through and still firm to bite, about 4 minutes. Drain. Melt butter in large saucepan over medium heat. Whisk in flour; cook, stirring, until mixture is light golden, about 3 minutes. Pour milk into butter and flour mixture, whisking constantly. Stir in cream of mushroom soup, red bell pepper, green bell pepper, green onions, garam masala, and dried tarragon. Bring mixture to simmer, cook for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in pepperjack cheese until cheese is melted and incorporated. Stir pepperjack cheese mixture, turkey meat or chicken, and noodles in large bowl until evenly incorporated. Pour mixture into large casserole dish. Sprinkle chips on top, pressing down slightly with tines of a fork. Bake in preheated oven until casserole top is golden brown and sauce is bubbling, about 30 minutes.

Pizza
Casserole

2 cups uncooked egg noodles
1/2 pound lean ground beef
1 onion, chopped
1 green bell pepper, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
16 ounces pizza sauce
1 cup sliced pepperoni sausage
1/4 cup milk
1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

•Fill a large pot with lightly salted water and bring to a boil. Cook egg noodles in boiling water until tender yet firm to bite, 7 to 9 minutes. Drain and set aside. Preheat oven to 350°. Heat a medium skillet over medium-high heat. Cook and stir beef, onion, bell pepper, and garlic in hot skillet until beef is browned and crumbly, 5 to 7 minutes. Drain excess fat from the skillet. Stir in cooked egg noodles, pizza sauce, pepperoni, and milk until well combined. Pour mixture into 2-quart casserole dish. Bake in preheated oven for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and continue baking until cheese is melted, 5 to 10 more minutes.

The Peace Initiative

Read: Ephesians 2:11-18

He came and preached peace to you who were afar off and to those who were near. Ephesians 2:17

It was the night before Christmas in 1870. French and German armies faced each other on the field of battle in the Franco-Prussian War. A French soldier started walking toward the German lines. His comrades watched breathlessly, expecting to hear at any instant the crack of a rifle that would end his life. As he neared the enemy lines, he stopped and began singing, "Noel, noel! Noel, noel! Born is the King of Israel!" No shot rang out.

Slowly the Frenchman returned to his ranks. There was silence! Then from the German side came a lone soldier to that same spot and sang the German version of the same song. After each stanza both armies united in the chorus. For a few minutes Christ brought peace to that battlefield.

God is a peacemaker who always takes the first step. Jesus came as a baby, and when He grew to manhood He preached peace to a warring world. Then, in the greatest peace initiative this world has ever seen, Christ made peace between God and man by dying for our sins (Col. 1:20).

Peacemaking efforts may be rejected, but the alternative is continued hostility. God didn't settle for that, nor should we. Let's take the first step in healing a broken relationship, even at the risk of being "shot down." by Dennis J. De Haan

O Prince of Peace, keep us, we pray, From strife and enmity; Help us to speak with loving words
That quell hostility. —JDB

What this world needs is the peace that passes all misunderstanding.

Kovels

Antiques and Collecting by Terry and Kim Kovel

Q: My grandmother loved Precious Moments figurines. She gave me the Precious Moments figurine of a bride called "Someday My Love" when I got married 20 years ago. Is it worth anything?
A: Precious Moments, like Beanie Babies, were wildly popular and people collected them assuming they would increase in value. Most have not. Artist and illustrator Samuel Butcher began drawing pictures of stylized, cute children in the 1970s. He and a friend began a company to make and sell greeting cards and posters that featured his "Precious Moments" artwork. In 1978, Enesco Corp. developed a line of porcelain Precious Moments figurines. Demand was high. Sales kept growing, too many different figurines were made and the market crashed. Many buyers still love them, but they sell for very low prices. Your "Someday My Love" figurine was made in 1988. It sells for anywhere from $14 to $25.

Now Here's A Tip
by JoAnn Derson

• Zip-top bags are essential when our family packs for holiday visiting. We use gallon-size bags for the kids' outfits – top, bottoms, underclothes, etc. – and each bag holds one complete set. There is no suitcase chaos, as the bag comes out, and yesterday's clothing goes in, ready for laundry day when we get home. Happy traveling. – JoAnn

If, after you are ready to buy, you still remember the things you "had to have," go back and make the purchases. – M.M. in Arizona

• I try to buy the same amount of presents for each of my grandchildren. I set a budget for each, and that carries me throughout the year, as I like to shop early for sales. One thing I do, though, is to take into account the value of the item if I get a super great deal. I think it makes it more fair for the rest of them. I haven't had any complaints! – Grandma, via email ©2023 King Features Synd., Inc.
