Paws Corner

by Sam Mazzotta

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I can't believe it – it's only March, and my cat Flicker is already scratching himself silly with fleas! He has terrible skin reactions to flea bites. How can I get rid of them? – Jesse B., Oak Ridge, Tennessee

DEAR JESSE: Flea infestations are awful, aren't they? As the seasons change and the weather warms up, flea activity rises, and pet owners start seeing more evidence of fleas on their pets and around their homes.

Fleas aren't just annoying. They can carry diseases that are transmissible to pets and humans. Tapeworms and cat scratch disease are just two of the potential ills that a flea infestation can bring into your home.

Tackle a flea problem head-on, and don't wait – because it will continue to get worse as the summer approaches.

Because of Flicker's allergic reaction to flea bites, he needs direct treatment to repel fleas and prevent them from latching on to his fur again. Talk to his veterinarian about the most effective flea treatments. For example, a monthly or quarterly topical flea treatment may be a good option. Oral medication – as pills or chewables – is also very effective. The vet may also recommend medication to clear up his current skin issues.

Reduce the risk of another flea infestation by making your home difficult for fleas to exist in.

–Have your home treated for fleas by a pest control service.

–Pick up clutter from the floor and replace any plush or felted toys with new ones.

–Vacuum twice a week to pick up fleas and their eggs.

–Repair or replace damaged window and door screens.

–Remove any debris piles near your home, and shift wood piles farther away. ©2024 King Features Synd., nc.

What do you think of when you hear the word sacrifice? We may use the term when we see parents who follow a strict budget and drive an old car so they can send their children to college. It certainly is a good word to describe the selfless action of a soldier who throws himself on a live grenade to take the full brunt of the explosion and save the lives of his companions.

Such noble sacrifices, however, pale when compared to what our Savior did for us on the cross. His sacrifice was unique. Jesus suffered and died "for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the whole world" (1 John 2:2). Because of His death and resurrection, all who accept His offer of salvation receive complete forgiveness and eternal life (John 3:16).

In Hebrews 10, the Bible speaks about the animal offerings of the Old Testament and compares them to the death of Jesus. Verse 4 states, "It is not possible that the blood of bulls and goats could take away sins." Those sacrifices pointed to the need for Christ's death.

The substitutionary sacrifice of Jesus Christ provides full salvation to all who have placed their trust in Him. Hallelujah, what a Savior! by Herbert Vander Lugt

Bearing shame and scoffing rude,
In my place condemned He stood;
Sealed my pardon with His blood,
Hallelujah! What a Savior! —Bliss

Believing Christ died—that's history;
believing He died for me—that's salvation!

Recipe Corner

Easter Eggs
Joan Zaffary

8 oz. pkg. cream cheese
1/4 lb. margarine, softened
2 tsp. vanilla extract
2 lb. confectioners sugar
12 oz. peanut butter
12 oz. flaked coconut
4 C. semisweet chocolate chips
2 Tbsp. shortening

•Beat cream cheese, margarine, vanilla with electric mixer in mixing bowl until well combined. Add confectioners' sugar in batches and beat until ingredients are evenly distributed; dough will be very stiff. Divide batter in half and place each half in a separate bowl; stir peanut butter into one of the bowls and coconut flakes into the second. Using your hands, mold dough into egg-shapes and arrange them on cookie sheets. Place molded eggs in the freezer until frozen, 1 to 2 hours. Once eggs are frozen, melt chocolate and shortening in top of a double-boiler; let cool. Dip eggs into melted chocolate until coated. Place eggs on waxed paper-lined cookie sheets and return to the freezer to harden. After chocolate has hardened, the eggs can be kept in the refrigerator.

Strange But True
 by Lucie Winborne

Residents of the Galapagos island of Floreana use a barrel of disorganized mail in place of a formal postal system. Tourists are responsible for sorting through the mail and grabbing any parcels they can deliver on the way to their destination.

The German version of the term "Average Joe" is Otto Normalverbraucher, which translates to "Otto normal consumer."

Kovels
Antiques and Collecting
by Terry and Kim Kovel

Q: I have several salt and pepper shakers I would like to get appraised. Do you know someone who can do that? I live in Canada.

A: There are several major appraisal associations that list appraisers by specialty and area. We've listed them before, and you can find them in the Business Directory on Kovels.com. First, decide what kind of appraisal you need. The value for insurance purposes may require a written appraisal by an expert. If you want to know what the salt and pepper shakers are selling for today, check online prices, including sold prices on websites. If the salt and pepper shakers are silver, they are worth at least the meltdown value of silver. Don't forget, the value for insurance purposes is a retail price and can be different from the price you will get if you want to sell them.

• TIP: It is said that you can clean silver with a banana peel mashed in a blender. ©2024 King

• An ordinance in Gainesville, GA, states that everyone must eat fried chicken, "a culinary delicacy sacred to this municipality, this county, this state, the Southland and this republic," with their hands. The law began as a publicity stunt aimed at getting folks to think of Gainesville as the fried chicken capital of the world.

Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Why a Wander with Wonder is Wildly Worthwhile

I believe there's a pretty good chance everyone reading this lost something they truly treasured at some point in their childhood, which still elicits a strong emotional response. Maybe your lost item was a favorite toy that went missing, a pet that ran away, or an electronic item that broke and was thrown out. In my case, it was a canvas wall tent my maternal grandfather bought me for my eighth birthday, which was washed away one year later in the 1972 Hurricane Agnes Flood. Each one of us has our own story of something special lost. However, there is a certain thing an overwhelming portion of adults have lost since their childhood that slowly slipped away and many individuals don't even realize it's now gone.

I'm talking about curiosity and a sense of wonder with the world around us. Like puppies and kittens, children have an innate desire to explore what's around them, experience new things with their senses, and discover for themselves what lies just outside their reach. Some adults keep their curiosity and make it their profession, so we give them titles, such as researcher, scientist, or explorer. But what about you? If you were given the task to write down the top 25 adjectives that describe you, would curious even make your list? Too many individuals allow the daily chore of "adulting" (earning a living, raising a family, paying the bills, and a score of other responsibilities) to push curiosity completely out of their lives.

Well, if you've taken a look outside lately, you realize "Spring has sprung", and the world around us has awoken from its natural cyclic slumber of Winter. Just like the trees are slowly starting to get their leaves back, I'd like to encourage you, starting this Spring of 2024, to begin the process of getting your curiosity back. You were born with it and it can be rekindled, if you permit it to be. Make time to get outdoors. It can be in the woods, out in a field, or along a waterway (or possibly on a waterway in some sort of boat). Don't just "put on the blinders" and try to get from Point A to Point B by walking, hiking, jogging, running, or paddling as quickly as possible. No. Every once in a while, slow down, wander, permit all your senses to take in everything around you, allow your sense of wonder to be your guide.

I find when I'm hunting, I'm really good at thoroughly exploring my surroundings. I slow down from miles/hour to a couple hundred yards per hour. At a much slower pace, I see and can identify a lot more mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians, insects, arachnids (spiders), gastropods (snails and slugs), trees, shrubs, wildflowers, plants, fungi, leaves, seeds, rocks, soils, waters, clouds, sunrise, sunset, hills, valleys, mountains, ridges, ravines, manmade objects, and a myriad of other things. It's easy to simply focus straight ahead, but allow your vision to scan near and far, left and right, down at the ground and up into the trees and across the sky. Besides your vision, use your hearing to identify the sounds of nature around you, whether it's created by a mammal, bird, insect, waterway, the wind, falling rock, etc., or a near or distant manmade source. Sometimes, your sense of smell becomes engaged as you detect the fragrance of wildflowers or trees, or the essence of a skunk, deer, or something dead or decaying. Occasionally, your taste can become involved as you sample nuts, berries, or possibly a water source. Most definitely, you'll regularly employ your ability to touch to determine if something is wet or dry, smooth or rough, hard or soft, slippery or slimy, hot or cold, light or heavy, and the list could go on. Starting now and henceforth, take opportunities to thoroughly "hunt" your surroundings, with or without a firearm, to really experience what's there for yourself and gain a greater appreciation of nature all around us. While you wander with wonder, take your children or grandchildren along with you outdoors to keep their curiosity ablaze.

Do you realize, the God of creation, the Creator of the universe, who has provided us all the "outdoor opportunities" we enjoy, wants to have an individual relationship with each one of us? That means you and me! It's why He sent His Son, Jesus, to Earth over 2,000 years ago as His plan for salvation of the fallen human race. As we prepare our hearts and minds to celebrate Easter, we need to individually and corporately recognize Christ's life, death, and glorious resurrection on our behalf! (John 3:16 and John 11:25-26) If you have not made a profession of faith and accepted Christ as your personal Lord and Savior, I highly encourage you to permit your curiosity to carry you to the Bible-believing church of your choice to hear the "Good News" for yourself. Then you can make an informed decision that will have eternal consequences. Please wander into a church with wonder to learn for yourself who Jesus is and why He loves you so much He died and rose again for you! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2024

Popovers Make Spring Meals Special

The first signs of spring include yard and garage sales sprouting up in our communities. Maybe you and your kids are tempted, like me, to scout these out for our neighbors' castoffs and enticing bargains.

I'm not advocating for accumulating more stuff to add to cupboards and storage closets that are already full, but I'm aware that the decluttering craze has opened up opportunities for bargain shoppers like me. I'm always on the hunt for an unexpected surprise.

This season is a good time to snag a buy on a gently used product that you can enjoy with your kids and grandkids. Be on the lookout for an item that you usually wouldn't purchase in a store, like an electric Panini pan for yummy lunch-making this summer, a waffle iron for extended Saturday morning breakfasts, or my latest find – a never-been-used, nonstick popover pan.

Popovers are easy to prepare, and they'll make any springtime brunch or supper extra special. When it's time for popovers at our house, my granddaughter helps me push the button on the blender, and then I "pop" the batter-filled cups in the oven. When baking (no peeking!), they puff up so high that when they are done, there is always a collective "wow" or "whoa" when we open the oven door and see the spectacle.

POPOVERS - Makes 6

- 1 tablespoon unsalted butter, melted, plus softened butter for greasing the popover or muffin pan
- 3 eggs at room temperature
- 1 cup milk at room temperature
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Preheat the oven to 400 F. Grease aluminum popover pan (or 6 compartments of a muffin pan) with butter. Place the pan in the preheated oven while you prepare the batter.

Whisk or whirl butter, eggs, milk, flour and salt in a blender for a minute on medium speed until smooth.

An adult should fill the hot popover cups with batter until half full. If using a muffin pan, fill cups 2/3 full.

Place in the oven for 20 minutes, then reduce temperature to 325 F and bake 20 minutes longer. (No peeking while they bake!)

Remove from the oven and immediately poke the side of each popover with the tip of a knife or a wooden skewer to release the steam trapped inside. This keeps them from collapsing. Remove from the pan and arrange in a serving basket. Serve hot.

Extra Tasty Ideas:

- Add 1 teaspoon fresh lemon zest to the batter to add a refreshing spring taste.
- Popovers make tasty edible containers for a main course of crab, shrimp or tuna salad. Just cut 1/3 off of the top of the popover and scoop out a space in the lower portion. Fill with salad and top with popover piece. Serve.

Now Here's A Tip

by JoAnn Derson
• My in-laws have a vaulted ceiling, and there is a corner that even the longest-handled duster won't reach. My brilliant son had an idea to get down the cobwebs that had accumulated there. He used a rubber band to secure a dish towel around a tennis ball. Then he just tossed it at the area repeatedly. I can't believe how well it worked. ©2024 King Features Synd., Inc.
