Kovels

Antiques and Collecting by Terry and Kim Kovel

Q: Years ago, I was given a 3-cent postage machine with a hand crank that was used in drug stores during the war years. It gives three stamps for a dime and was distributed by H.M. Branson Distributing Company, 2nd Street, Louisville, Kentucky. I'd like to know what it's worth.

A: The first class postage rate was 3 cents from July 6, 1932, until Aug. 1, 1958. It was also the rate during World War I, from Nov. 2, 1917, to July 1, 1919. We found advertisements listing the H.M. Branson Distributing Company as a distributor of Rock-Ola phonographs and Bally pinball machines in the late 1940s to the late 1960s. Any coin-operated machine sells. Vintage postage machines sell for about $100. If rare, they sell for more.

TIP: Clean the feathers on a stuffed bird with chunks of fresh white bread. After cleaning, spray lightly with hair spray. ©2024 King Features Synd., Inc.

Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Without a Doubt, This is a Stout Shout-Out for Trout

For those individuals who are outdoor-minded, there is a certain progression of dates they count down in their minds and frequently on their calendars each year. First, there is New Year's Day when hope springs eternal regarding all the possibilities the new year might hold. Next comes Groundhog's Day, Feb. 2, when Punxsutawney Phil's annual prognostication gives folks hope Spring will eventually arrive. Eventually, Mar. 1, rolls around to mark the start of Meteorological Spring for weather forecasters. That is followed by Astronomical Spring, when there is equal amounts of daylight and darkness, which arrived on Mar. 19 this year. Finally, there is the special day, when almost a million anglers all across PA, which includes men, women, and children, mark Spring's true arrival with the official start of fishing season!

We're talking the 1st Day of Trout Season and that significant day, which many have had circled on their calendars for months, is tomorrow, Sat., Apr. 6, 2024! Now, for those who don't know, for those who might have forgotten, and even for those who are already really pumped up and chomping at the bit (like children on Christmas morning!); please allow me to share a few simple facts about trout fishing.

T - Time to get out on the water. Tomorrow at 8 AM marks the official start and many individuals have already headed up to their camps, others will sleep out overnight, and some will be at their spots before daylight to lay claim to their favorite fishing holes. The PA Fish & Boat Commission's aerated stocking trucks have been steadily rolling from their hatcheries in Feb. and Mar. to deliver 3.2-million adult trout, which included 70,000 brood fish, which are 2½ and 3½ year-old substantially larger specimens. These fish are stocked in 697 streams and 129 lakes open to public fishing all across the Commonwealth. Additionally, there are many high-quality streams in remote portions of PA with self-replicating populations of wild Brook Trout (our native PA State Fish) and Brown Trout (an introduced species).

Locally, we have many miles of stocked streams, along with Bessemer Lake and Cascade Quarry, to fish.

R - Respect the resource. For some, trout fishing is strictly a catch-and-release activity. For others, it is solely catch-and-harvest, since fresh trout is a delicious source of high-quality protein, when properly prepared. The PA daily creel limit on trout is five fish, which most stocked trout are a minimum of 9-inches. I personally harvest stocked trout on opening day in order to prepare my favorite recipe for smoked trout after marinating it for 8-hours. The important thing is to have a plan before hitting the water. I take a cooler with ice packs to properly store and transport fresh trout. Unfortunately, I've witnessed just caught trout discarded in trash cans by individuals who landed them and then either didn't know or care how to handle them properly to create excellent table fare. Respect also includes taking your trash: hook packaging, worm containers, old line, etc. back out with you.

O- Outfit yourself properly. If you observe individuals' trout fishing, you're liable to see a little bit of everything when it comes to rods, reels, tackle, baits, and attire. For some, it only involves a fly rod and a myriad of flies. For others, it's a spinning rod tossing small spinners or spoons. Yet others, may opt for a spincasting or baitcasting outfit with the bait (worms, salmon eggs, mealworms, corn, marshmallows, PowerBait, minnows, etc.) of their choice. Regardless of how you pursue trout, take time before hitting the water to ensure your rod & reel are working properly, your line is in good condition, and you have all the terminal tackle (hooks, sinkers, split shot, swivels, lures, leaders, flies, fly-dressing, etc.) you require. Don't forget your bait and please dress appropriately for the conditions, whether cold, rainy, or sunny (that includes yourself and any accompanying children). Also, bring along the sunglasses, sunscreen, and tick repellent (they are bad this year). Remember your fishing license, trout permit, and waders/hip boots.

U - Understand what's going on in the water. It's a lifelong learning experience to become proficient at "reading the water" when it comes to trout fishing. There are the factors of depth, temperature, current, clarity, cover, channel, and the bottom (rock, gravel, silt, sand, mud) to consider. Additionally, experience teaches where actively feeding trout hold in pools, riffles, and eddies as well as close to or under cover (logs, rocks, undercut banks, manmade cribs or riprap, etc.) This can change some daily on any waterway.

T - Tight lines! This is a complimentary close many trout fishermen use in written or verbal exchanges with fellow fisherman to wish each other luck in hooking into quality trout resulting in a "reel battle". Now you know what pursuing trout, starting Apr. 6, is about! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2024

DEAR PAW'S CORNER:
After my aunt passed away, I gladly agreed to take in her dog, "Hunter," a rather squat, obese Beagle. He's a happy old dog of about 9 years, but my aunt gave him little to no training other than housetraining. That makes walking him – something the vet recommended I do twice a day, in addition to a diet – a chore. Hunter will walk a few steps, then sit down and refuse to budge. When he does feel like walking, he either tugs the leash forward or lags behind. How can I correct this? – James T., Plano, Texas

DEAR JAMES: Hunter is not used to the new lifestyle yet, and he's reacting in a predictable way. He's also out of shape and probably more stressed than you think. The first thing I prescribe is patience. The second thing I'd prescribe is persistence.

You'll want to gradually lengthen his walks. Each day, always at the same time, put Hunter on his leash and start the walk. As soon as Hunter begins to lag or tug forward, stop walking, adjust the distance so that he's standing or sitting next to you, and start again, saying, "Heel" as you step forward.

When he sits and won't budge, encourage him to go a few more steps by giving him a very small treat. Then turn around and go home. On your next walk, repeat this encouragement, going just a little farther. See what I'm getting at? Make each walk just a tiny bit farther.

As Hunter loses weight, learns to trust you and gains confidence on the leash, he will eventually pull you along. Time, patience and consistency will do the trick.

Our Daily Bread
Without A Bumper Sticker

They saw the boldness of Peter and John
And they realized that they had been with Jesus. —
Acts 4:13, Read: Acts 4:5-22

While driving in rush-hour traffic one day, I found myself behind a car with a bumper sticker. It had a yellow smiley face on it with these words: SMILE—JESUS LOVES YOU.

Suddenly another car squeezed in front of the "smiley" car, forcing the driver to hit the brakes. With that, he shook his fist angrily, displaying anything but a smiley face. I felt ashamed, until I remembered my own impatience as a driver. The incident reminded me that our actions and reactions, more than the display of a sticker on our car, show whether we really know the Lord Jesus.

Acts 4 tells us that Peter and John faced opposition from local rulers, elders, and scribes as they proclaimed the good news of Christ. But their reaction caused their opponents to start thinking. Even though Peter and John were not highly educated, the people marveled at their bold witness and realized that these two men had been with Jesus. There was no need for a bumper sticker on the apostles' donkey. Their words and actions said it all.

Do you feel too untrained or timid to be a witness for God? If you'll spend time getting to know Jesus, He will empower you to impress others with Himself. You'll have boldness—without a bumper sticker. By Joanie Yoder

For me 'twas not the truth you taught,
To you so clear, to me so dim;
But when you came to me, you brought
A deeper sense of Him. —Clelland

Actions speak louder than bumper stickers.

• "This tip is from my babysitter. She gives small children two 'get out of bed free' tickets at bedtime. If they get out of bed, say, for one last drink of water, etc. (we parents know these are stalling tactics), they have to give her a ticket. If they still have a ticket unused when they fall asleep, she will leave a prize with their parents for the morning." – M.J. in New Mexico
