Be Proactive, Not Merely Reactive, When It Comes to Summer Safety

Sometimes, bad things happen to good people. Unfortunately, undesired outcomes can come upon you in mere seconds. I've heard it said, "Wisdom comes from learning from your mistakes and true wisdom comes from learning from the mistakes of others." Allow me to impart some true wisdom upon you, based on a mishap I experienced 41-years ago, which I was very fortunate to walk away from unscathed.

It was Summer 1983, between my sophomore and junior years at Penn State, and I got a job in the maintenance department at Dorney Park, a major amusement park in Allentown, PA. I think the fact I wasn't afraid of heights and knew how to rappel played a part in why they selected a 20-year old college kid. (I did get to use my rappelling skills to check the tightness of the large bolts and soundness of the beams on their historic wooden roller coaster.) We worked 5 AM to 1:30 PM, and completed most of our routine maintenance and any necessary repairs before the park opened. After guests entered at 11 AM, we usually had "behind the scenes" tasks to perform, unless a ride broke down. At the time, Dorney Park had large grassy fields as overflow parking areas and numerous massive pavilions for large corporate picnics.

One day around noon, I was told to take the Ford 8N tractor with the bucket loader out to the back fields to roll up the flagging tape and pull out the t-posts that had been used to designate the parking area for a company picnic the previous day. I had the roughly 1500 feet of flagging tape rolled up and was working my way around the perimeter using a chain attached to a hook on the bucket loader to remove the t-posts, when I started to hear thunder in the distance. It was a race against time, to see if I could get the job completed before I got soaked by the incoming thunderstorm. I had just attached the chain to the second to last t-post and climbed back up into the tractor's seat to begin extraction, when it happened. The ominous dark clouds were still over a mile away, but the only tree in the entire field, a solitary big oak, was suddenly struck by lightning about 50-yards from where I was on the tractor. The 8N had been modified so the exhaust pipe/muffler came up vertical from the engine, instead of horizontal back underneath the tractor's frame. In a split second, every hair on my body (head and arms) stood up, as the lightning arced from the tree to the tractor's exhaust pipe. The flash of bright light, the intense heat, and overwhelming boom were almost instantaneous. By the time I realized what had happened, it was over. The tractor's rubber tires had insulated the powerful voltage and saved me. However, I did have a scorch mark on the bottom of my boot, where my left foot was on the metal clutch pedal. That lightning strike was too close for comfort and something I hope I never have another close call with, as long as I live.

Summer has its share of inherent hazards we all need to be aware of. In most cases being aware of your surroundings and taking a proactive approach to your personal safety will help mitigate the danger you might encounter. Please remember, the children in your life will be watching you and learning from your example. Do as I say, not as I do, doesn't cut it with kids. They'll see right through your hypocrisy and their future behavior will follow yours for good or for bad. So, set them up for success, not failure.

Lightning – It can strike up to 10-miles from a storm cloud. If you can hear thunder, you are potentially close enough to be struck. Avoid tall, solitary objects and don't be a tall, solitary object out in the open. Get off of or out of the water. The safest place is inside a building or a vehicle. Watch the forecast.

Water – Everyone has an excuse why they don't, but find a comfortably fitting life preserver (PFD) that works for what you do on the water, and then wear it whenever afloat. Tragic things can happen very quickly on any boat and there's not time to put on a life preserver. It's life insurance to come home safely.

Insects – Tick-borne illnesses (Lyme disease, etc.) and mosquito-borne illness (West Nile virus, etc.) are very real threats in our area and must be taken seriously. Treating your clothing with permethrin and using insect repellent with DEET or picaridin on your skin is the best way to avoid bites when outdoors.

Sun Exposure – Unfortunately, it's cumulative over time, so wear appropriate clothing or sunscreen with an adequate SPF to avoid skin damage/skin cancer. Sunglasses help protect your eyes from UV exposure.

Vehicles – Wear your seatbelt. Put children in proper car seats. If your UTV has seatbelts use them. On your motorcycle, ATV, or UTC wear your helmet. You know, EMTs, paramedics, and medical professionals have a name for those who don't: "Organ Donors". Arrive alive for those who love you!

Summer safety should be everyone's concern and priority. God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors!

Honoring Your Parents
Honor your father and mother. —Ephesians 6:2
Read: Exodus 20:1-17

My dad recently turned 90 years old and his physical capabilities are fading. He can still move around with his walker, but he needs someone to cook his meals and help him with other tasks.

My older brother Steve and his wife Judy lived close to him, so they decided to move in with Dad to care for him. Wanting to help in some way, my wife and I flew across the country to help out a bit by watching Dad while my brother and his wife had some time away together. We enjoyed our time with my father and were glad to ease Steve and Judy's load—even if it was only for a few days.

The Bible says to "honor your father and mother" (Eph. 6:2). One New Testament commentary says that to honor someone is to "treat him with the deference, respect, reverence, kindness, courtesy, and obedience which his station in life . . . demands."

For young children, this means obeying parents. For teenagers, it indicates showing respect for Mom and Dad even if you think you know more than they do. For young adults, this means including your parents in your life. And for those in middle-age and beyond, it means making sure that parents are cared for as they move into old age or their health declines.

How can you honor your parents this week?

Don't miss the opportunity to honor and obey the parents God has given you—

For they'll be gone someday. —Sper

Honoring our parents has no age limit.

Now Here's A Tip

by JoAnn Derson

• Sometimes a tip isn't about saving time or money, but about a cleaner, healthier solution to a problem. Going green is a trend that is here to stay. And the wisdom of yesteryear is popping up all over the place. For instance, want beautiful highlights? Get a lemon and get out in the sun. Use the juice to dampen strands of your hair, then as you are out in the sun, they will lighten - no chemicals, au natural!

• Lush lips and lovely nailbeds are only as far away as your pantry. Use olive oil applied directly to lips and nails to moisturize.
