Recipe Corner

12 oz. package uncooked egg noodles
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 cloves garlic, minced
4 cups shredded zucchini
1/2 cup milk
4 ounces cream cheese, cubed
1/2 cup chopped fresh basil
salt and pepper to taste

Zucchini Alfredo

1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Bring a large pot of lightly salted water to a boil. Add egg noodles and cook for 8 to 10 minutes or until al dente; drain. Heat the oil in a skillet over medium heat. Stir in garlic, and cook 2 minutes. Mix in zucchini, and cook 10 minutes, until some of the moisture has evaporated. Pour the milk into the skillet, and stir in cream cheese until melted. Mix in basil. Season with salt and pepper, and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Serve over the cooked pasta.

2 cups shredded zucchini
2 eggs

Zucchini Puffs

1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 1/2 cups buttermilk baking mix
salt and ground black pepper to taste
oil for frying

In a large bowl, combine zucchini, eggs, onion, and garlic. Blend in baking mix, salt and pepper. Heat 1/2 inch of oil in deep-fryer to 375°. Drop batter by spoonfuls into hot oil, and fry until evenly brown and fluffy. Drain on paper towels. Sprinkle with salt before serving.

Our Daily Bread

Debt-Free Living by Dave Branon

Read: Romans 4:1-8
The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life. Romans 6:23

Imagine a debt-free life—an existence without the irritation of those nagging payments hanging over your head every month.

It's a prospect that has led financial counselors to create various get-out-of-debt plans that offer relief from financial worry. These are some of the suggestions they make:

- Stop all buying on credit.
- Cut down on your grocery bill.
- Do things yourself instead of paying to have them done.
- Quit being an impulse buyer.

Although I can't say I'm debt-free (I'm paying off my house and have other bills due each month), I can testify that in a different and much more important sense, I have no debts. When it comes to the burdensome worry of how to get out from under the weight of my sin, I don't have a care in the world.

At one time, I was under the sentence of death because of my sin, but when I put my faith in Jesus Christ my debt was paid off (Rom. 4:7). The penalty of those sins was eliminated, and I am debt-free. It's a great feeling!

Have you let God credit your account with Christ's righteousness where sin's penalty used to be? Accept Jesus' payment for your sins and get out of debt!

The moment that we trust in Christ
We are forgiv'n and cleansed within,
For all-sufficient is His blood
To pay the debt of every sin. —DJJ

Christ paid a debt He didn't owe to satisfy a debt we couldn't pay.

Strange But True

by Lucie Winborne

- Around 600 B.C., a Greek athlete by the name of Protesilaus threw a discus 152 feet from a standing position. His record remained unbroken for over 2,000 years, until Clarence Houser threw a discus 155 feet in 1928.
- The nursery rhyme "Humpty Dumpty" doesn't state that Humpty Dumpty was an egg.
- In movies and television, scientists are more likely to suffer a violent death than members of any other profession.

Love Visiting Our PA Elk Herd? Want to Know
“Insider” Information? Get the Book!

When it comes to our PA elk herd, there is a continuum of people who fall all across the spectrum. At one end, you have folks who have never made the 2.5-hour trip from our area up to the PA Wilds Region to see the PA elk herd for themselves. Then you have the folks who have made the trip once, who can say, “been there, done that.” At the center, are the individuals who make periodic pilgrimages up to visit the elk and relish the opportunity to see the majestic animals, hear the bulls bugling, and capture incredible photographs. Then you have the folks who make the trip several times each year to be close to the elk and often have standing reservations at a campground, cabin, Airbnb, or hotel to be amongst the elk as frequently as possible. Finally, you have those who have made the PA elk herd part of their lives by either purchasing a camp in the area to get there as frequently as their schedules permit, or they have moved to the region to become permanent residents of the PA Wilds Region and relish living amongst the elk.

I personally know individuals who fall all across this spectrum. I admit we fall at the center of the continuum, since at least one dedicated day to visit the PA elk herd each year is required and many years we make more than one trip to the PA Wilds Region for elk viewing. Now, if you fall anywhere on the spectrum, other than those who have never visited the elk, you’ve probably been to the highly educational Elk Country Visitors Center in Benezette and read the informative signs at Winslow Hill, Hoover’s Farm, Dent’s Run, and other public elk observation sites to learn something about the PA elk herd. But what if you want to know more? What if you are captivated by the PA elk herd and want “insider” information on what’s gone on over the past 150+ years to get the PA elk herd where it is today? What are the significant events, who were the individuals, organizations, and agencies involved, and how did things evolve to enable these magnificent animals to roam freely across a remote portion of “Penn’s Woods” today?

Mario Chiapelli grew up in Weedville, at the western end of Bennetts Valley (the route of present day PA State Route 555), which stretches 25-miles from Weedville down through Medix Run and Benezette, all the way to Driftwood. He is a fourth-generation resident of the area and having literally grown up amongst the PA elk herd, Mario is the ideal subject-matter-expert to tell the detailed story of native PA elk’s demise in the 1860’s, their reestablishment in 1913 (50 transplants from Yellowstone National Park), and the long, arduous journey with many twists and turns to get the PA elk herd where it is today. His recent book, published in 2023 by The History Press, is titled: “Preserving the Pennsylvania Wilds: The Rebirth of Elk Country” and is highly recommended reading for anyone who holds a special place in their heart for our PA elk herd. Mario details what happened to our native PA elk along with other wildlife species, the significant negative impacts of widescale lumbering and coal mining, and the long-term cumulative efforts of many men and women, organizations and agencies, to implement conservation initiatives that have turned an environmental disaster into an overwhelming success story for PA elk, the PA Wilds Region, and all those who live or visit there. His narrative is very thoroughly documented, yet easy to read, and is accompanied by amazing photographs, along with detailed maps and sketches.

If you are heading up to Benezette and the Elk Country Visitor Center this weekend, July 27 & 28, for Elk Expo 2024, you may want to purchase your own copy of “Preserving the Pennsylvania Wilds: The Rebirth of Elk Country” at the Visitor Center’s gift shop or any one of the many other stores in the PA Wilds Region catering to elk viewers. Additionally, Mario’s work is widely available online from Google Books, Amazon, and numerous other reputable booksellers. The cover photo of two bull elk battling in the water of Bennett’s Branch of Sinnemahoning Creek will definitely catch your eye, if it hasn’t already done so during an Elk Country visit within the past 9-months. The book’s Forward, written by Rowland Cogan, former PA Game Commission Elk Biologist, in addition to Cofounder and current President and CEO of the Keystone Elk Country Alliance (operators of the Elk Country Visitor Center) will grab your attention and Mario’s prose will definitely keep it for all 176-pages. I personally read “Preserving the Pennsylvania Wilds: The Rebirth of Elk Country” in one day, since my initial visit to our PA elk herd in the early 1980’s as a Penn State Wildlife Science Major ignited my flame of interest and appreciation.

Why not fan your flame and passion for our PA elk herd? Get Mario’s book to learn what has been done and what more we can do together for our amazing PA elk! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors!

NEW LOCATION

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: We're taking a road trip across the country and bringing our dog "Frankie" with us. He's about 6 years old and well trained, but has never been beyond the front yard. How can we keep him comfortable on our journey? - Linda P. in Trenton, New Jersey

DEAR LINDA: A road trip sounds like fun! And the key to your dog having a great time is to plan, plan, plan.

First, make sure that Frankie's vaccinations are up to date and that his license tag and identifying information are securely attached to his collar. It's not a bad idea to microchip your dog, too - in case he runs off and his collar gets detached. Carry a copy of his vet records with you, too.

Next, start planning the road trip with Frankie in mind.

- Plan rest breaks and build them into your travel time. Check along the route that you'll be traveling for pet-friendly rest areas where you can walk dogs (on leash) during stretch breaks. You'll want to stop every two to three hours.

- Look for pet-friendly accommodations along the route. If you're camping, check the campsite rules - not all of them allow pets!

- Pack a bag just for Frankie that has his medications, food (especially if he eats specialty pet food), favorite toys, extra blanket and extra leash.

- Make sure Frankie is safe and secure in the car. Bigger dogs do better in a kennel cage set up in the back of your SUV or the folded-down back seat, with a padded bed to lie down on.

- If Frankie suffers from anxiety or tends to get sick in the car, talk to the vet about medication to ease his symptoms. ©2024 King Features Synd., Inc.

• "Old farm trick: I keep a spray bottle of rubbing alcohol mixed with water on my garden cart. If I think I got into some poison ivy, I spray the skin area pretty thoroughly with the alcohol. It's the oil that spreads the rash, and the alcohol stops it from spreading pretty well." – J.J. in Florida

• Glassware will sparkle if you add a capful of bleach to the rinse water when hand-washing dishes.
• "Cover wart completely with duct tape. Leave it on for six days. On day seven, remove the tape, soak the wart and use a pumice stone or emery board to rub the dead skin off. Repeat until it's gone. No chemicals, and it takes about the same amount of time to work as medicines you buy at the drugstore." – H.V. in VA ©2024 King Features Synd., Inc.

Strange But True

by Lucie Winborne

• To encourage his fellow Norsemen to settle a large, snow-and-ice-covered island he discovered in the year 982, Eric the Red called it Greenland. The ploy worked.

• Venus is the only planet to spin clockwise.
• Niagara Falls is slowly eroding by 1 to 2 feet per year. Since their formation some 12,000 years ago, the falls have already withdrawn 7 miles upstream, and if that rate continues, they should meet up with Lake Erie, about 20 miles from their present site, within the next 35,000 years.
