Prayer Circles

Everyone who exalts himself will be humbled. — Luke 18:14 Read: Luke 18:9-14

Around the circle the 6th-grade girls went, taking turns praying for each other in the Bible-study group. "Father in heaven," Anna prayed, "please help Tonya not to be so boy-crazy." Tonya added with a giggle, "And help Anna to stop acting so horrible in school and bothering other kids." Then Talia prayed, "Lord, help Tonya to listen to her mother instead of always talking back."

Although the requests were real, the girls seemed to enjoy teasing their friends by pointing out their flaws in front of the others instead of caring about their need for God's help. Their group leader reminded them about the seriousness of talking to almighty God and the importance of evaluating their own hearts.

If we use prayer to point out the faults of others while ignoring our own, we're like the Pharisee in Jesus' parable. He prayed, "God, I thank You that I am not like other men—extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this tax collector" (Luke 18:11). Instead, we're to be like the man who asked God to be merciful to him, "a sinner" (v.13).

Let's be careful not to let our prayers become a listing of others' flaws. The kind of prayer God desires flows out of a humble evaluation of our own sinful hearts.

Lord, teach us how to pray aright, Oh, lead us in Your way; Humbly we bow in Your pure light; Lord, teach us how to pray. —Anon.

The highest form of prayer comes from the depths of a humble heart.

Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Trying Something Completely New – A Kayak Fishing Excursion for Lake Erie Walleye

When I first started writing “Outdoor Opportunities” in 2014, I received some sage advice from Ralph Martone. At the time, Ralph was the outdoor writer for the New Castle News and one of the things he told me was, “Never give away the exact location of your favorite hunting or fishing spots. Because while you may think you may be the only one who knows about it, there are probably a few others who consider it their ‘secret spot’ too and they will be mad at you and hold a grudge for a long time.” I’ve tried to adhere to Ralph’s wisdom over the past 10-years and in the spirit of good investigative reporting, I’m not going to reveal my source this week, when it comes to my extremely generous host who provided all the gear I required and graciously shared his expertise in how to successfully land Lake Erie walleye from a kayak.

I’ll be the first to admit walleye is my favorite freshwater fish when it comes to meal time. It is simply delicious (a fact I learned from repeated trips to remote Canadian waters as a teenager). Like many others, I’ve made trips to Lake Erie’s shallower western basin to head out from Port Clinton on charter boats to fill the cooler with walleye and I’ve been the guest on friends’ boats out on PA’s Lake Erie waters when we’ve traveled out several miles to find walleye holding in deeper waters. So, I was completely intrigued when my host told me he regularly went out on Lake Erie in his kayak and harvested his limit of six walleyes. Now, I’ve had my recreational kayak out on the lake side of Presque Isle over a half-mile and within the bay when there have been 2 to 3 foot swells, so I have tremendous respect for “big water” and know you do not attempt to kayak fish on Lake Erie unless the conditions are just right with minimal wind and therefore minimal waves. My host informed me the “windows of opportunity” come up on only a few days’ notice, based on the weather forecast, and when the conditions are right, it’s time to go now.

I had declined a few initial invitations because of prior commitments, but when my host asked if I was available on Monday, July 22, my wife chimed in there wasn’t anything on my schedule I couldn’t delay. We texted to arrange that he would pick me up at 5:30 AM for the trip up I-79 North and I wouldn’t need to bring any gear other than my PA fishing license, Lake Erie permit, favorite life preserver, and cooler.

We arrived at our Lake Erie launch site at 7:05 AM (sorry not more specific) and I got to watch a true professional at work. My host had refined his “big water” kayak fishing gear and prowess on Chesapeake Bay seeking striped bass and on Lake Erie pursuing walleye for many years. So, he has two Hobie fishing kayaks with pedal drive units completely outfitted to safely and confidently go out for walleye. His Hobie kayak that I used had a comfortable seat with backrest and cushion, an electronic fish finder (primarily to know water depth and forward speed), a large plastic lockable fish gripper (to avoid the walleye’s sharp teeth) a back deck to strap down my Yeti cooler (for bait, water bottles, and landed fish), multiple rod holders, a plastic measuring board, many tools of the trade (pliers, gill clipper, etc. on retractable lanyards to avoid loss), and a stainless steel diver’s stringer (to bleed out landed walleye for 30-minutes before they go in the cooler on ice). His mini-van is a customized “fishing machine” for transporting his two kayaks, all his gear, and for sleeping, since he often makes two-day trips when conditions are just right.

It took a few minutes to get comfortable with the pedal drive unit and steering with the rudder, but it soon became second-nature. Based on his guidance, we dropped our lines in when we got out into 30-feet of water and stripped the color-coded braid lines until they were 100-feet behind our kayaks. We each had two lines out trolling his favorite trolling spoon/worm harness combination with an attached night-crawler. His guidance was to keep moving at 1.5-MPH. We were anywhere from a half-mile to one mile offshore and we went up to 1.5-miles east of the launch making circuitous drags. With his experience, he caught 2X to 3X the fish I did, but I was blessed to bring in a 16.5, 17.5, 18, 19.5, a hefty 24, and massive 28-inch walleye for my six-fish limit as we trolled from 7:30 AM to 2:30 PM. My host told me most fisherman think they have to head out much further on Lake Erie this time of year, but he’s found some western basin walleye move into more eastern waters closer to shore each summer. He informed me my 28-inch “beast” was one of the largest walleye he’s ever seen pulled into a kayak. It was one of my most productive fishing trips in the past 20-years and an hour-long cleaning session netted over 12-pounds of delicious walleye filets! I truly appreciate my host’s hospitality, generosity, and expertise, and look forward to fishing together again, if the invitation comes! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2024

MOM, SINCE MY BIRTHDAY IS NEXT WEEK I THINK I'M ABLE TO DO OLDER STUFF.

NOW THAT I'M BIG I CAN STAY UP LATER AND EVEN WATCH SCARY MOVIES.

EVENTUALLY I MIGHT GET OLD ENOUGH TO HELP OUT WITH DOING THE LAUNDRY.

FUNNY, YOUR FATHER HASN'T HIT THAT AGE YET.

Strange But True
by Lucie Winborne

• In 1984, a Chihuahua named Percy was seemingly killed by a car while accompanying his owner, Christine, on a visit to her parents. Christine's father buried the dog in his garden, but a terrier named Mick, who belonged to her parents, dug up the grave, dragged Percy to the house, and licked him until a faint heartbeat could be detected. While Percy recovered, it's worth noting that the two dogs had always hated each other, and continued to do so after Percy's rescue!

• King Mithridates VI of Pontus took small doses of poison throughout his life to develop a resistance in case an attempt was made to kill him. He built up such a strong immunity that when he attempted suicide to escape capture by the Romans, the poison had no effect and he had to order a slave to dispatch him with a sword.

by JoAnn Derson

• "If you pull all the way into your garage, tack some carpet scraps to the wall that you pull in toward. It will protect the wall's paint, and it will protect your car's bumper if you accidentally rub the wall." – U.F. in North Carolina

• "I somehow lost one of a pair of socks that had gripper dots on the bottoms of the feet, so they would be nonslip. I gave the odd sock to my mom, and she uses it as a jar or bottle opener. The gripper dots help her get a hold of the lid to unscrew it." – R.J. in OH

• "Personal appliances can get very dirty and can harbor many species of bacteria. One of the worst, in my opinion, is the cellphone. Make sure you clean it regularly by wiping front and back surfaces with a soft cloth dampened with alcohol. We touch our phones with our hands and press them into our faces. It's just smart to keep it clean." – W.D. in Indiana

- Clean baby food jars can be filled with small snacks like Cheerios and doled out in the car during longer trips. They hold just enough for a quick snack.
- Stop runs in hose or tights by painting the bottom of the run with clear nail polish. Let dry and repeat. Do this while wearing them, and gently unstick from the skin. It works better when they are stretched as they will be worn, and you don't risk attaching it to the other side of the tights.
