Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Use Your Outdoor "Super Power" to Do Good and Help Others

One thing I learned early in my career as a military leader is the validity of "the eye test." Now you might not have heard it phrased that way, but chances are you're using it yourself on a regular basis. "The eye test" involves trusting what you are seeing for yourself and not relying solely on what written reports, media sources, or other people are trying to tell you is going on. Take for instance, the current state of the economy for the average person. News reports may tell us the stock market is up and our nation's GNP is trending in a positive direction, but "the eye test" tells me there a lot of individuals and families who are hurting and can use a helping hand at this time. When I see for myself the number of people who come out to food drives/giveaways in our area and all across PA held by churches, non-profit organizations, and government agencies and witness folks stopping by "Blessing Boxes" where churches, businesses, organizations, or agencies make food available to those in need 24/7; I've realized food insecurity is very real for many of our neighbors, including those most vulnerable: the elderly and children, who may not know when or where their next meal is coming from. It affects one in six PA residents and that's a crisis.

Now you may be thinking, what does this significant social issue have to do with the outdoors? Well, if you are a deer hunter, there is something you can do to help fight this present battle against food insecurity in our midst. Those involved in operating food banks, food pantries, and soup kitchens will tell you one of their biggest expenses is obtaining high quality protein sources to provide for their recipients. Anyone who has been to a grocery store or butcher shop recently knows meat is expensive and the price has gone up considerably in the past few years. One of the best sources of high quality, organic protein is venison. That's right: deer meat. Generations of PA residents have had venison as regular table fare and know how good it tastes and how good it is for you when it comes to the nutritional value per serving.

This coming Monday, August 12, the third round of PA antlerless licenses opens at 8 AM. Now, you might be thinking, "I've already obtained two PA antlerless licenses. One back in late June when the first round opened and another one when the second round opened on July 22, why would I want any more?" Well, you might be harvesting a deer to feed just yourself or you possibly might be "empty nesters" like my wife and I, and only need two deer to last the entire year; BUT you can use your "super power": your ability to successfully hunt and harvest deer, to help feed those in need through "Hunters Sharing the Harvest"! That's right, PA has the largest venison donation program in the United States and our non-profit organization has become the model for numerous other states to emulate. Since its creation in 1991, "Hunters Sharing the Harvest" has donated over 2.5-million pounds of ground venison to food assistance agencies all across the Commonwealth. On average, one deer yields 50-pounds of ground venison, which translates into 200 meals per deer (that's providing 4-ounces of high quality protein per serving). I would like you to consider purchasing additional PA antlerless tag(s) above what you need for your personal consumption in order to help others who are facing food insecurity and may not have the means or experience to harvest a deer for themselves. Your additional deer can make a difference for someone else.

I became involved with Hunters Sharing the Harvest back in January 2021 when current HSH Executive Director, Randy Ferguson, contacted me after I did a column on the program in December 2020. Since then, I've had the privilege of serving as a HSH County Coordinator for Lawrence and Beaver Counties. Here in Lawrence County, I share responsibilities with a very capable fellow veteran, Nick Lutes. We are fortunate to have three local processors available for hunters to donate their deer. Doug Peffers Deer Cutting on PA-65 in Ellwood City (724-758-4976) has been with HSH since its inception and covers both Lawrence and Beaver Counties. Further north in Lawrence County are Beatty's Country Market on PA-551 in Enon Valley (724-667-6501) and Nashua Livestock on Garner Road in Pulaski Township (724-714-5481). There is no cost for hunters to donate a deer to HSH. However, HSH is a non-profit organization and welcomes donations from individuals, businesses, and agencies to help pay for processing costs. All venison is ground and packaged for ease of storage, transportation, and preparation.

If you would like additional information, please visit HSH's website: sharedeer.org, since there are participating processors across the state. Please consider doing what you love, hunting deer, more this year and then donating them to HSH to help others in need! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2024

Household Security

Whoever trusts in the Lord shall be safe.
Proverbs 29:25
Read: Deuteronomy 6:4-9

After the United States was attacked by terrorists on September 11, 2001, President Bush called on Congress to create a Department of Homeland Security. The job of this agency is to do everything possible to keep citizens safe.

Our individual households also need a plan for "homeland security" if we are to keep others from endangering our children. But in a world of easy access to harmful outside forces, how do we do that? Here are some suggestions for household security:

Take charge of the media. Instead of allowing makers of TV programs, movies, and CDs to dictate what you watch and hear, use biblical guidelines to evaluate the language and morality of what your children see and what they listen to.

Check out their friends. The standards of your children's friends may not match yours. Make your home a haven where their friends are welcome. It'll help you get to know them.

Build shields. By teaching your children biblical principles and encouraging their faith, you'll help them to be discerning and to build inner shields that will protect them from the dangers they face.

How good is your household security?

Our children need a home where love Provides security,

Where what is taught is not confused By what they hear and see. —Sper
